Bose McKinney & Evans Elects Two New Partners

INDIANAPOLIS, IND. – The law firm of Bose McKinney & Evans LLP is pleased to announce that attorneys Bradley Dick and Philip Zimmerly have been elected partners of the firm.

"We are pleased to see Brad and Phil transition into leadership roles within the firm," said Jeffrey Gaither, managing partner of Bose McKinney & Evans. "They are exactly the kind of people you want as partners – smart, hardworking lawyers and all around nice people."

Bradley Dick practices in the Litigation, Government Services and Utilities groups of Bose McKinney & Evans. He represents individuals, businesses and government entities in a variety of litigation matters, from contract disputes to defending clients accused of racketeering. He also represents government entities and utilities, serving as municipal counsel for cities and towns, responding to public records requests and related litigation, drafting ordinances and resolutions, and representing utilities in a wide range of matters. Dick graduated magna cum laude from the University of Michigan Law School and holds a bachelor's degree in telecommunications from Indiana University.

Philip Zimmerly practices in the Labor and Employment and Litigation groups at Bose McKinney & Evans. He represents companies and individuals in cases ranging from constitutional rights, to breach of contract, to personal injury. He has appeared in cases in both federal and state court in the state of Indiana, as well as several appeals before the Indiana Court of Appeals. Zimmerly graduated magna cum laude from the University of Alabama School of Law and holds a bachelor's degree from Gannon University.
